Kahramanmaraş Earthquake Emergency Relief Fund

12-Month Impact Report

Dear donors, supporters, and friends,

It has been a year since devastating earthquakes hit Türkiye. Since then, Turkey Mozaik Foundation has become a hub of unprecedented solidarity.

Within the first few hours of the disaster, we launched the Kahramanmaraş Earthquake Emergency Relief Fund. The response from our community has been truly extraordinary, with an outpouring of solidarity evident through thousands of heartfelt messages. Our campaign's visibility was extensive, as our QR codes were displayed not only in local cafes and school fairs but also in corporate settings, concerts, and notably, during an unforgettable fundraiser held at the prestigious Royal Albert Hall.

The campaign attracted significant media attention, receiving coverage on BBC News, SkyNews, radio shows, and numerous websites. This widespread media coverage played a key role in amplifying our relief efforts and rallying support for those affected by the earthquakes. We also participated in both online and in-person conferences and panels, including at the London School of Economics and the Turkish-British Chamber of Commerce and Industry, where we had the opportunity to introduce our fund and showcase the impactful work of our grantees.

With the help of incredible individuals, companies with generous gift-matching programs, philanthropic organisations, and social media and personal networks, we raised £4 million from over 18,000 donors. With this support, we provided urgent relief, with the first grants being distributed within 48 hours of the earthquakes, and facilitated the long-term recovery of the survivors. In total, we've so far granted £3,155,344 to support 92 projects run by carefully selected civil society organisations, impacting more than 750,000 lives.

Turkey Mozaik Foundation served as a reliable bridge between local civil society organisations and the people who desperately wanted to support Türkiye. We express our gratitude for the overwhelming support from our growing community of friends and donors spanning across the UK and beyond.

Since the campaign's inception, our commitment to transparently updating our donors about the campaign's progress and the work of our grantees through our newsletters and social media has remained steadfast. This report, marking the 12th month of the earthquakes, aims to provide an overview of the initiatives undertaken and the outcomes achieved.

We are very grateful for the support of our donors, whose confidence in us has made the growth of our campaign possible. We would also like to thank our grantees who have worked tirelessly in the field during this difficult time, sharing their knowledge and experience with us, enabling us to make the best possible use of our donors' contributions. Together, we've witnessed the impact that can be made when people unite with a shared purpose. The road to recovery is a long journey. With your support, we will continue to stand in solidarity with the survivors in the coming year to build back what's been lost.

Thank you.

Turkey Mozaik Foundation's Response

The earthquakes on February 6, 2023, measuring 7.8 and 7.7, followed by numerous aftershocks and two additional earthquakes, marked the most catastrophic disaster to hit Türkiye in over eight decades.

These devastating earthquakes directly impacted 11 provinces - Kahramanmaraş, Adıyaman, Hatay, Gaziantep, Malatya, Diyarbakır, Adana, Osmaniye, Şanlıurfa, Elazığ, and Kilis - affecting an estimated 15 million individuals and causing widespread destruction. Tragically, according to official figures, over 55,000 lives were lost, 1,5 million people lost their homes, and more than 3 million people were displaced.

In the aftermath of this disaster, on the same day, we launched the Kahramanmaraş Earthquake Emergency Relief Fund and started a fundraising campaign.

Our partner, the Support Foundation for Civil Society (Sivil Toplum için Destek Vakfı - STDV) quickly engaged local civil society organisations (CSOs) in the affected regions, including past and present grantee organisations, experts, and other CSOs in the field. This strategic approach enabled us to gain crucial and reliable information about the reality on the ground.

The initial three grants were announced on the next day, February 7th.

DIRECT GRANTS

In the first two weeks, we distributed grants to seven organisations, directly addressing the immediate needs of survivors. These initial direct grants focused on search & rescue efforts, supporting both professionals and volunteers on the ground, providing essential supplies like food, clean water, mobile toilets, shelter, hygiene products, and meeting other urgent needs. Subsequent direct grants pivoted towards improving survivors' psychosocial well-being, supporting education, fostering economic empowerment, and ensuring vulnerable groups' access to essential services, while continuing to address basic needs.

SMALL GRANTS PROGRAM

On February 10, we initiated the Small Grants Program, in collaboration with STDV, to facilitate logistical and coordination efforts within the earthquake-affected area. The program aimed to offer assistance in terms of shelter, hygiene, heating, and essential amenities for all residents, along with aiding activities for internally displaced individuals in different cities. Through this program, we supported 26 CSOs with a total of £167,100. These grants were deployed within a 2-4 month timeframe from February to May, impacting the lives of more than 15,000 individuals.

Insights gathered through our grantees' fieldwork have proven instrumental in highlighting the need for specialised support on the ground. These insights have informed the structure and focus of our future grants, tailoring them to the evolving needs of the region.

REGIONAL RECOVERY SUPPORT PROGRAM

To foster lasting-change in the affected regions, we launched the Regional Recovery Support Program, allocating a total of £1,704,012 to 19 CSOs. The program, initiated in collaboration with STDV, focuses on restoring livelihoods and employment, enhancing access to healthcare and education, and providing specialised support (psychosocial, legal, etc.) to improve the well-being of women, youth, and children, while also addressing ongoing fundamental needs.

The projects under this program target a wide range of different groups. They include adolescents, women, and girls vulnerable to gender-based violence and abuse, children dealing with limb loss, teachers serving in the affected regions, farmers, women's cooperatives supporting local producers, healthcare workers, and professionals, volunteers, as well as other CSOs operating on the ground. This comprehensive approach ensures a targeted and multifaceted response to the diverse needs prevalent in the affected areas.

Small Grants Program
facilitated essential aid within 2-4 months, from February to May, impacting the lives of over 15,000 individuals.

This year, our Institutional Fund is supporting those affected by the earthquakes. We are supporting the organisational development of 7 CSOs, including three organisations newly established in Hatay and Adiyaman shortly after the earthquakes. In addition to core grants, the grantees will receive mentoring and capacity-building support on financial sustainability, networking and partnership building, communications and organisational management, to improve their sustainability and their resilience to similar situations in the future.

Although quantifying the exact number of direct and indirect beneficiaries of our Kahramanmaraş Earthquake Emergency Relief Fund is challenging, it's evident that the relief efforts of our grantees have impacted more than 750,000 lives.

Our grantees have gone beyond immediate assistance, offering support to vulnerable groups like individuals with disabilities, migrants, refugees, and even stray animals. They have established safe spaces, and disseminated critical informative materials, all while acknowledging the escalated risks of gender-based violence and abuse in post-disaster settings.

Particularly noteworthy is the fact that our grantees, as they forge collaborations and partnerships on the ground, are sharing experiences and knowledge, amplifying the projects' impact through the multiplier effect.

In April, we visited Hatay, where we had the opportunity to meet with some of our grantees. Just outside of Antakya, we visited the hub of the Support to Life Association, to which we provided a grant to supply clean water to 12 neighbourhoods of Antakya in the crucial early days of the earthquakes. During our meetings with the Füsün Sayek Association, Ali Ismail Korkmaz Foundation, and Architecture for All Association, we not only observed the field but also gained invaluable insights from their experiences.

The information we gathered from our grantees since day one has shaped our future strategies. What truly stands out, however, is witnessing the unwavering resilience of the grassroots civil society actors. Despite being personally affected, their relentless volunteer work serves as a constant inspiration, motivating us to scale up our efforts for greater and more far-reaching impact.

Next Steps for 2024

As we approach the one-year mark since the earthquakes, we remain steadfast in our commitment to supporting the affected communities. In 2024, we will continue to support civil society organisations working for the region's long-term recovery and evolving needs.

Building upon the successful outcomes and impact of the grants provided through the first initiative, we launched the Regional Recovery Support Program II to further support civil society efforts and projects addressing long-term needs in thematic areas such as children's rights, gender equality, and culture & arts. We will share details about this program and our other efforts targeting earthquake-affected regions within 2024.

We have partnered with the Turquoise Coast Environment Fund (TCEF) of Conservation Collective and the Turkish Philanthropy Funds to launch a grant program to support environmental projects in the earthquake-affected regions of Türkiye. The program aims to mitigate the environmental impact of the earthquakes in Hatay, Adana and Mersin by focusing on the restoration of coastal and marine landscapes and the development of sustainable food systems. These initiatives are seen as crucial by the affected communities as they cope with the aftermath of the disaster.

Our commitment to transparency and accountability remains a cornerstone of our operations. We will continue to report on the outcomes and impact of the ongoing projects supported by our fund. Through regular updates, we will ensure that our donors and supporters remain informed and engaged in the progress achieved by our grantees.

In the 12 months since the earthquakes, we have experienced both great devastation and sadness, but also remarkable solidarity from our friends and donors. The task of rebuilding and rehabilitating the earthquake zone is undoubtedly going to be long and challenging. However, it is the marvellous resilience and defiant spirit of the local people we have met along the way that gives us hope about the path to recovery that also undoubtedly lies ahead.

We appeal to our donors and supporters to continue their generous contributions and help spread the word within their networks to broaden our impact. Your contributions have been instrumental in launching and sustaining critical relief efforts. For further details on various ways to contribute and support through cooperation and partnership, please feel free to reach out to us. With your continued support, we can further increase our impact, touch more communities, and help rebuild lives affected by the earthquakes.

Defne Women's Cooperative, Hatay

"You were a lifeline for us. Starting production again brought us women together and gave us hope."

Defne Women's Cooperative, which was set up to increase women's participation in the workforce and support women producers in Hatay, was shut down after the earthquakes. The cooperative's buildings were badly damaged and its equipment was destroyed.

Thanks to the valuable contributions of our donors, the Cooperative was able to renovate its building and purchase new production materials. Since then, the Cooperative has resumed production and reached over 1,500 women and farmers.

Çorbada Tuzun Olsun Association (ÇOTUN) brought together 200 volunteers who tirelessly sorted, prepared, and distributed essential supplies to survivors for two months in Hatay. The generous support of our donors empowered these volunteers, equipping them with tents for shelter, headlamps, radios for communication, first aid kits, masks, thermal wear, and more.

With their dedication, a daily average of 3,000 individuals, totalling 201,000 people, received food, clean water, clothing, and essential hygiene and medical supplies.

Lotus Women's Solidarity and Life Association has brought comfort and support to over 4,000 survivors across temporary shelters in Kahramanmaraş, Adıyaman, and Hatay. Beyond providing essential supplies like food and clothing, they prioritised the well-being of children and families.

The association created dedicated "play havens" within shelters, filled with toys, games, and art supplies. These spaces offered a sense of normalcy and joy, helping children cope with the trauma they've faced.

Lotus Women's Solidarity and Life Association, Adıyaman

"When the children started to recover, the whole village got better, and it helped everyone."

Within 24 hours of the earthquakes, the Food Rescue Association conducted a rapid needs assessment and identified food safety as a major concern. The association determined the need for vacuum-sealed containers, which were essential to keep meals hot and prevent contamination, while meeting strict hygiene and food safety standards.

Working with TOKTUT, another grantee of our fund, the association delivered 180,000 hot meals to survivors in Malatya, Adıyaman, and Hatay. This quick and strategic response ensured immediate nourishment for those in need, a vital lifeline at a difficult time.

About Turkey Mozaik Foundation

Turkey Mozaik Foundation (TMF), established in London in 2017, aims to create positive social change by supporting civil society in Türkiye. We do this by building a community of supporters who are passionate about making a difference and by following a proven and rights-based approach in grant-making.

As a group of optimists, we brought together our diverse experience to act as a supportive hub. We assist mainly grassroots civil society organisations that possess the local know-how and the insight needed for impact.

We raise funds in the UK and beyond and allocate grants that cover both project and core funding, prioritising intersectionality and systemic change by targeting the root causes of social issues.

In addition to our thematic funds, we also launch Emergency Relief Funds to respond quickly to natural disasters and humanitarian crises, ensuring that the critical and evolving needs of affected communities are met. Our previous Emergency Relief Funds include responses to COVID-19, the Elazığ and Izmir earthquakes in 2020, the refugee crisis in 2020, and the wildfires in Türkiye in 2021.

Our aim is to empower local CSOs in Türkiye by ensuring a grant-giving system that delivers tangible results for grantees and transparency for donors. Our grant-giving strategy involves a rigorous evaluation and a shortlisting process, conducted in line with strict evaluation criteria.

We have no political affiliations and strictly collaborate with impactful non-political and non-governmental organisations.

Among our notable partners are the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development (EBRD), the British Council, the Istanbul Foundation of Cultures and Arts (IKSV), the Conservation Collective, and the Turkish Philanthropy Funds.

In our first six years, we have reached the £5 million milestone in income and provided grants to support more than 200 projects of civil society organisations.
